RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Chair, "Effectiveness of an Individual Competency Training Program: Evaluation of Referral Process and Various Treatment Approaches," Oklahoma Forensic Center, October 2008 – June 2009

- Coordinated development of program evaluation project with other interns focusing on effectiveness of individual treatment for competency restoration. Completed final report to be disseminated to psychology department, interdisciplinary team members, and administrators within the facility, as well as within the state's Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services. Presented results to executive management team at the Forensic Center. As a result of the project, the individual competency training program was revamped, in order to select those consumers most likely to benefit individual competency training and increase effectiveness of training methods.

Graduate Research Assistant, Psychophysiology Laboratory for Affective Neuroscience (PLAN), The University of Tulsa, September 2004 – August 2008

- Assist in data collection for studies examining pain perception and psychophysiology.
- Dissertation Title: "Physiological responsiveness in individuals at risk for alcohol dependence: Effects on modulation of nociception and pain." Completed October 2009.
- Precandidacy Project: "The effects of borderline personality traits on nociception and pain." Completed April 2006.
- Advisor: Jamie L. Rhudy, Ph.D.

Honors Research in Psychology, East Texas Baptist University, 2002 – 2003

- Completed 2 semesters, investigating possible neurocognitive correlates of and treatments for Dementia of the Alzheimer's Type.
- Advisor: Lynn New, Ph.D.

Undergraduate Senior Research Project, East Texas Baptist University, 2003 – 2004

- Examined the relationship between level of physical activity and memory deterioration in an elderly population.
- Advisor: Lynn New, Ph.D.
